THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1816.

From Harrisburgh we learn, that the bill authorising the building of Bridges over the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, at this place, had been twice read in the House of Representatives, and was to be taken up for a third reading on Tuesday the 6th inst. The bill fixes the site of the Monongahela Bridge at Smithfield Street, and the Allegheny Bridge at St. Clair Street. The state grants $ 40,000 towards each bridge.

Petitions from a number of citizens of this town and the neighbourhood, had been received and presented to the House, praying that disinterested men may be appointed as Commissioners to fix the site of the Monongahela Bridge; the third reading of the bill was further postponed to Friday the 9th inst. What shape it may ultimately assume, it is impossible to say.

VOYAGES AND DISCOVERIES.

Capt. A. DELANO, has issued proposals in Boston, for printing a Summary of Voyages and Travels performed by himself in Europe, Asia, Africa and America. This gentleman we learn, has been three times round the world, and was three years making discoveries and surveys. He is the only surviving officer of the ship Massachusetts, which sailed from Boston in 1790: and afterwards commanded the Perseverance in her seven years voyage in the Pacific and other Seas,—During this time, he captured a Spanish ship which had been risen upon by the slaves on board; who had put several of the Spaniards to death. For this gallant act, he received a medal from the Spanish King, and was much caressed by the Spaniards. His voyages are stated to have been full of adventures, and acts of kindness to distressed objects: and we doubt not the summary of them will merit the patronage of the American public,

YALE COLLEGE.—We copy from a Northern paper, under the impression that it may prove useful to those, who design to prepare youths for a reception into this justly esteemed Seminary, the annexed statement, made by the authority of the President, Dr. Dwight.

"Candidates for admission into the Freshman Class, in this College, will hereafter be examined in Virgil, Cicero's select orations, Clarke's introduction to the making of Latin, Sallust, the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Græca Minorca, Adams Latin Grammar, Goodrick's Greek Grammar, Latin Prosody, and Arithmetic."

INDIAN TREATIES.

The National Intelligencer of the 18th ult. contains four treaties with the Indian Tribes, in addition to those we have before noticed. One of them is signed by a "Big Elk," a "Hard Walker" a "Blackbird's Grandson," a "Little Soldier," a "Cow's Rib," and "One who has no gall." The second is signed by "One who sees far," an "Iron Kite," "He who fears not," "Walking Rain," "Without Ears," "He who arrives," a "Little Horn," and a "Big Bear." The third is signed by a "Black Cloud," a "Thunder Storm," a "Fox" a "Wolf," a "Medical Woman," a "Bear that sits," a "Flying Fish," a "Bad Fish," "The Sun," a "Kettle," "Hairy Legs," "A Liar," and a "Big Lake." The fourth bears the signatures of "One that flies as he walks," "The Falling Hail," "The Black War Club," the "Iron Wind," and "One who puts his foot in it." All four are signed by JAMES MADISON.

SYNOPSIS.

"Great effects from trivial causes flow."—It appeared in evidence on the trial of Marshal Ney, that his first excitement to the disloyalty which lost him his life, was an indignity which his lady received in a circle of old and new nobility. She had made a remark, when an ancient Duchess, turning up her nose in contempt, hinted at the pretensions of upstarts sprung from a common soldier. This taunt was told to the Marshal by his lady, in tears; and he, instead of treating it as the ebullition of ignorance, folly, and supercilious pride, or considering it a compliment to his talents, took it in high dudgeon, and swore to use his efforts to put an end to this boasted pride of ancestry.

Marshal Ney was born at Sarre Louis, in 1769. At the commencement of the French revolution, he was a private soldier in a regiment of Hussars. He passed rapidly thro' all the subaltern grades till he attained the rank of Adjutant General, which was conferred on him in 1794. At the time of his execution, he was Marshal of France, Duke of Elchingen. Prince of Moskwa, Knight of St. Louis, Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor, Knight of the Iron Crown, and Knight of the Grand Cross of the Portuguese Order of Christ. Never was soldier more brave,—never was brave man more versatile. On the day after his execution he was carried to the burying of Mont Louis, with a funeral procession. It was followed by a carriage in mourning, and many carriages of citizens.

The United States frigate Java, Commodore Perry, sailed from Newport, on the 25th ult. bound to the Mediterranean. The Java carries out the ratified Treaty.

The Prince Regent, it is said, has purchased from Gen. Kellerman, for 3000 guineas, the superb carriage of Bonaparte, taken by that officer at the battle of Waterloo.

Field Marshal Barclay de Tolly, has been created a Prince by the Emperor Alexander.

The Duke of Wellington has received from Louis XVIII, the order of the Cordon Bleu. His Majesty also presented his Grace with the estate of Grosbois, and conferred on him the title of Duc de Branois.

A West Florida paper gives the following animated description of the present season of that place: "Since our residence in Louisiana, we do not recollect to have seen so fine a season as this has been since the first of Sept. last. It is now the 21st day of Dec. and we have not yet had a frost that would kill the cotton plant, nor materially injure the sugar cane. Our gardens are yet green; roses and wild jessamines blooming, and lillies springing; indeed all nature presents more of a vernal than a winter aspect."

"An act enabling the Governor to incorporate a company for making an artificial road from the state line near Emmittsburgh, in the state of Maryland, through Waynesburgh, Green Castle, and Mercersburgh, to intersect the Chambersburgh and Bedford Turnpike Road at or near the east end of M'Connellsburgh," has passed both houses of the legislature and was approved of by the Governor on the 29th ult.

A Handsome Present.—The President has by a special message, recommended to Congress to confirm a grant made by the Creek Indians to Gen. Jackson, of 3 miles square of land—a like quantity to Col Hawkins—1 mile square to George Mayfield, and 1 mile square to Alexander Cornells. The parties are to choose the land wherever they please, out of those ceded to the United States by the Creeks.

Mr. Randolph has offered a resolution declaring it expedient to reduce the Military Peace Establishment.

Fifty cases of presents have arrived in England, on their way to St. Helena, from the Emperor of Russia, to the Ex-emperor of France.

Charleston, (S. C.) Jan. 25.

On Friday last, WILLIAM LINEN was brought to the Bar of the Court of Sessions: a jury was impannelled, and after a patient hearing of evidence, &c. they brought in a verdict pronouncing him to be sane. In consequence of this verdict, he was, on Tuesday last, arraigned for the murder of Dr. DAVID RAMSAY; after occupying the attention of the Court and another Jury, for two days, at 10 o'clock last evening, the Jury returned their verdict of Not Guilty; acquitting him, on the ground of insanity. He was immediately remanded to Goal, on an indictment preferred against him by Henry Bailey, Esq. On the verdict being read, he thanked the Jury for their lenity—but thought they had not done him justice!

FRANCE.

The day after the execution of Marshal Ney, the duke de Richelieu, president of the council, presented a bill extending an amnesty to all those who have taken any part whatever in the events preceding or following the return of Napoleon to France.

This amnesty modified by three exception:

1st. The individuals who are put on their trial by the 1st. article of the royal ordinance of the 24th of July, 1814, are to be proceeded against conformably to the laws, and those who are absent are to be condemned as contumacious.

Of this number are the generals Bertrand, Clausel, (who is now in N. York) Debelle, &c. It is remarkable that the journals do not mention in this class the name of the estimable and justly respected gen. Drouet, who was included in the 1st article of the ordinance. It is uncertain whether the ministers have yielded to public opinion which had been strongly expressed in his favour, or his name has been omitted by the printer through mistake.

2d. The second exception relates to the individuals designated in the 2d article of the same ordinance, and in whose cases the two houses of the legislature were to decide as to who among them should be brought to trial, or banished with the privilege of selling their property.

The new law only pronounces against them a sentence of banishment, revocable at the pleasure of the king—nothing is said as to their being compelled to sell their property or losing their civil rights.

In this class are Carnot, the duke of Bassano, (Maret.) the duke of Dalmatia, (Soult) Count Regnaud de St. Jean D'Angely, (who is now in this city) Count Defermon, Count Real, Arnault, member of the Institute, and a celebrated dramatic writer, Bory de St. Vincent, &c. &c.

3d. The third and last exception relates to those who are already prosecuted—This exception is very ambiguous, and may give rise to extensive persecutions.

The law banishes from France all the members of the Bonaparte family, as well as their relatives and connexions, including collaterals to the degree of uncles and nephews. Their property originating in donations or grants of the former government is confiscated, but their private property is secured to them, upon condition that it is sold within six months.

The duke of Richelieu preceded the reading of the bill with a speech which contains some moderate sentiments—after the bill was read, he added "with emotion."—Thus did Henry IV, grant an amnesty to his subjects who had fought against him, and France was saved!

IMPORTANT LETTER.

The following honest, dignified and spirited letter from Marshal MONCEY to LOUIS 18th, was written on the occasion of his refusing to preside on a Court Martial for the trial of Marshal NEY. The reader will recollect that this refusal of MONCEY was treated as contumacy, and he was ordered to be imprisoned for three months.

[TRANSLATION.]

LETTER FROM MARSHAL MONCEY.

SIRE,—Will your majesty permit me to raise my feeble voice to you? Will it be permitted to one who has never deviated from the path of honour, to call the attention of his sovereign to the dangers that menace his person and his kingdom? Yes, sire, nothing less than the imminent dangers of the state, would allow me to express myself to you with the frankness which you ought to expect from all your faithful subjects, and especially from your marshals—from those who dared to uplift their voice, on the most difficult occasions, when the absolute will and blind ambition of a master were every thing, and the counsels of wisdom and prudence were nothing.

I believe, that after my letter of yesterday to the minister of war, he would have judged sufficient the reasons which I gave for refusing to sit in a court marshal where I could not preside. I find myself mistaken, as he has transmitted me a positive order from your majesty on this subject.

Placed in the cruel dilemma of offending your majesty or of disobeying the dictates of my conscience, it becomes my duty to explain myself to your majesty.

I enter not into the enquiry whether Marshal Ney is guilty or innocent—Your justice and the equity of his judges will answer it to posterity, which ways in the same balance kings and their subjects. But the subject on which I cannot be silent, and on which I must speak distinctly to your majesty, is the critical position into which you are rushing. Alas! has not enough of French blood been shed? Are not our misfortunes sufficiently great? The humiliation of France is it not pushed to the last extreme? And when it is necessary to rectify, to soften, to calm, it is then you are required to sign new proscriptions! Oh sire! if those who direct your councils had only in view your good, they would tell you that never did the scaffold make friends—Do they then believe that death is terrible for those that have so often braved it? It is the allies who require of France . But, sire, is there no danger for your person and your august dynasty from them? They entered the country as your allies, and what title do they merit from the people of Alsace, of Lorraine, and of the capital? They have demanded the price of their friendship; they have required securities from those they came to deliver; they have required the inhabitants of the countries they occupy to deliver up their arms: and in two thirds of the kingdom there remains not even a single fowling piece. They have required that the French army should be disbanded: and there remains not a single man at his colours, not a single piece of cannon is harnessed. They have demanded the delivery of our fortresses, and if some of them still hold out, it is because their commandants cannot believe your majesty has ordered their surrender. So much condescension ought surely to have softened their passions. But, no! they wish to render your majesty odious to your subjects; they wish to guard against every possible danger by striking off the heads of those soldiers and statesmen whose names they cannot hear without being reminded of their own humiliation.

Let then a French general be allowed to say in the face of Europe, that if our armies have overrun the neighbouring countries, they purchased their conquests with their valour and blood. Let your majesty consider—Will the Allies ever forgive their conquerors? It is their shame and humiliation which they wish to efface, and not to strengthen your throne, which is more shaken by their outrages than established by their vengeance? But when you have given up every thing, what can you refuse?—If the fate of Poland is to be ours, what means of resistance have you left? Your armies?—you have none! Your fortresses?—they are in the power of the allies! Your marshals, your generals, your statesmen?—their heads will have fallen! Will you then resort to the people—to that people so much humiliated, so much despised? Is it those who formed your councils? The recollection of the month of March, 1815, must shew your majesty what you have to expect from their zeal and attachment. There remains then no other resource than a reliance upon the generosity of your allies and our enemies. Have you then forgotten that in order to gratify the man who occupied your throne, they refused you one after another an asylum in their dominions? So completely had they recognized his legitimacy, that in their treaties with him they never thought of stipulating an indemnity for you. Did not England herself negociate with him? Would she not again have treated with him at Prague, had his pretensions been less extravagant? Did not the people of London drag the carriage of his minister, when you were not even permitted to appear at court? Was your restoration thought of when they negociated at Chaterey? Had it not been for the hostile occupation of Bordeaux and the loyalty manifested by the people of that city, a treaty would have been signed with Napoleon. Still more recently at the Congress of Vienna, was your majesty's minister able to obtain a guarantee for the integrity of our territory? Oh sire, the man of Elba may have had correspondencies and intelligence in France, but who were they that went to seek for him? Who told the English fleet to suffer him to pass? Has the admiral who was entrusted with the superintendance of the island been prosecuted? Had not the king of Prussia 80,000 men near our frontiers who might have marched upon Paris and reached it before Napoleon? Are not the Prussian cannon daily placed in battery before your palace and pointed against your residence? And yet you can rely on the generosity of your allies! And yet under such circumstances you require me to take my seat in a tribunal where I shall perhaps figure in my turn not as a judge, but as a prisoner at the bar! Did I not lead the French army in 1794 to the borders of the Ebro? Even now the poinards of those who struck Brune, and , and so many others, glitter before my eyes, and shall I in my own person sanction a judicial murder? Ah no! while there remains to my unhappy country only a shadow of existence, shall I associate my name with that of her oppressors? No, sire! you yourself cannot but approve my resolution: What! shall 25 years of glorious labours be sullied in a single day? Shall my locks bleached under the helmet be only proofs of my shame? No, sire, it shall not be said that the elder of the Marshals of France contributed to the misfortunes of his country. My life, my fortune, all that I possess or enjoy is at the service of my king and country; but my honour is exclusively my own, and no human power can ravish it from me. My name is to be the only heritage left to my children, at least let it not be disgraced!

Permit me to ask your majesty, where were the accusers of Marshal Ney, when he was on the field of battle? Did they follow his steps and accuse him during 25 years of perils and labours? And if Russia and the allies can pardon the conqueror of the Moskwa, can France forget the valiant hero of the Beresina? In the unfortunate retreat across that river Ney saved the remnant of the army; in that army I had relations and friends, and soldiers (who are the children of their chief) who have served under me; and shall I doom him to death, who saved the lives of so many Frenchmen, to whom so many parents are indebted for their children, so many wives for their husbands? No sire! if I cannot save my country and my own life, I will at least save my honour; and if I feel any regret, it is that I have lived too long, since I have survived the glory of my country. Reflect sire! this is perhaps the last time that truth will reach your throne; it is both dangerous and unwise to push the brave to despair.—Where is there, I will not say a marshal, but the man of honor, who is not compelled to regret not having sought death on the fatal field of Waterloo? and perhaps if the unfortunate Ney had done there what he had often done before, he would not have been this day dragged before a court martial, and those who demand his death would have been seeking his protection. Excuse, sire, the frankness of an old marshal, who has always kept clear of intrigues, has known only his country and his profession; he believes that the same voice which was raised against the invasion of Spain and the war with Russia, might also speak the language of truth to the best of kings, the father of his subjects. If frankness is a virtue, it is not, I am conscious, the most profitable of the virtues, since although I am the eldest of the marshals, I am also the poorest.

I will not disguise the dangers in which the step I have taken may involve me, nor the disgrace it may draw down upon me from the vengeance of courtiers; but if I have been fortunate enough to enlighten your majesty as to your true interests, I shall consider myself as but too happy, whatever may be the consequences; and if in descending to the tomb I may say with one of your ancestors,—All is lost except honour, I shall die contented.

For the Gazette.

Mr. Scull,

A writer in the Mercury of last week has replied to my communication in the Gazette of the week before, and has undertaken to shew, that although the objections advanced by me against a certain part of the bill before the senate for incorporating the city of Pittsburgh "are specious and popular, well calculated upon a superficial view to engage the mind in their favour, and induce an implicit acquiescence, nevertheless, upon a close analysis of those objections they are found to possess less intrinsic merit, and to be entitled to less weight than we might at first sight be disposed to confer upon them." This is the writer's opinion—we will briefly notice the arguments, by which he attempts to sustain it. That the reader may be enabled to form a more correct judgment of the merits of this performance, I will transcribe those few words in the third paragraph, which, in my opinion, comprise all the writer has urged, that could even be mistaken by prejudice or partiality, to favour the principle he sets out to establish.

"Although," says he, "the Governor may have made appointments, which cannot claim the merit of being the best, yet, is it logically just to conclude from this, that every one he makes will also be bad?—No! The probability is greater that the appointments will be such as shall be approved of by the people. The people of this state, make choice of a man from among themselves, whom they think best calculated to fill the gubernatorial seat, and manage the interests of the state; to exercise the powers vested in him in consequence of his elevation, with sound judgment, and with a view to promote the general good, and local, as far as it is compatible with the general interest of the state. In whatever cases the power of appointment is given him, either by the constitution or laws, it is because he enjoys the confidence of the people: if he abuses this, and places men in office, who are unworthy or incapable to discharge the duties thereof, he is amenable to the people, and the whole weight of responsibility rests upon him. It being the duty, it certainly is the interest of the Governor, if he desires to retain the esteem of his fellow citizens, if he regards his own reputation, and wishes to keep clear of the imputation of being influenced by improper motives, to prefer such men to office who are of unquestionable integrity, and who will execute their trust with firmness and fidelity."

Although I do not discover here even a "specious reason" for surrendering our natural and valued privilege of choosing our own local officers: although it cannot be pretended, that here is the shadow of a reason suggested, for our divesting ourselves of this privilege in favour of any individual whatever, more especially in favour of any person, who so far from being appointed by us, is not in the slightest degree interested in our affairs, and at best but indifferently acquainted with our citizens; yet, to a mind predisposed and predetermined to surrender the privilege into the hands of an individual and a stranger, it must be confessed, that the arguments advanced for preferring the Governor, would be somewhat satisfactory. The ideas with which we are presented, wear the semblance of being respectful, at least, and perhaps we may say complimentary to the people; and as far as we have quoted, we meet with nothing that shocks the understanding, or at which the just pride of an American citizen should revolt.—If the citizens of Pittsburgh choose to have the power of appointing their local gistrates reside abroad, and in the ds of an individual—that the Go-rnor enjoys the confidence of the peo- of the whole state, would certainly m to be a very good reason for vesting power in him; and it is therefore th propriety laid down by the writer the Mercury, that in whatever case power of appointment is vested in Governor, either by the constitution the law, it is because he enjoys the nfidence of the people. If the writer d not unfortunately shifted his ground, atever his secret views and expecta-ns, he might have preserved through-this piece, a consistency of reasoning, a shew of respect for the people; we should really suppose it would e occurred to the simplest apprehen-n, as the plainest dictate of good sense, in extolling the Governor's superi-ty, some little credit should be given e to whom he was beholden for his tation. In what language, there-, shall we describe our utter and ous disappointment, when with this er we turn our approving eye from pleasing contemplation of him, who e people's favourite, enjoys our un-nded confidence, to the deplorable re so ably delineated, of those same k and wicked beings, dignified with e denomination of people; and from m, alas, our poor Governor derives his consequence. The constitution law repose confidence in our chief gistrate—and why? because he en-s the good opinion of those in whom the slightest confidence can be pla-d. But, says this writer, "we unhe-tatingly yield our assent to the princi-e, that the people are the legitimate ource of all power. This is the corner tone of our federal fabric, as well as the damental support of all our republican titutions. All opposition to this prin-ple strikes at the very root of the tree of liberty." We thank him for this con-cession, however meant; and notwith-standing that ungracious nevertheless, ith which he flies to qualify before it all have weakened his arguments.—ay, we would thank him for this con-cession, though it were plain as noon y, that he had only suspended the tor-nt of his abuse against the people, to troduce this palliative, and to infuse opiate which, while his alarmed pati-nts resign themselves to his care, ren-ers them in a measure insensible to the harshness and extremity of his prescrip-ions. But before we can duly appreci-te the sincerity of this acknowledgment, at the people are the legitimate source f all power, &c. &c. we must consider, at at the next breath, the writer at-mpts to arouse our minds to the most ightful apprehensions for the mingled ison which in superior abandance flows m the same source. We must also nsider, that these people, are the same egenerate beings whom, elsewhere, it s not sufficient to charge with strange l extreme delusion, but base corrupt-n and depravity; the same that are scribed as a sottish, unprincipled, in-riated mob, capable of ignorantly or ually choosing a judge to day, and ckedly, capriciously and tumultuous-y assailing him to-morrow; deterring m from his duty, appalling him with goblin damned, conjured up with its sts from hell."

But why dwell upon this subject, as ugh some rare and gross insult has en offered to the people; whereas it only a courtesy paid to their ideal so-vereignty. Surely, this is not the first me that the "sovereign people" have en approached with a cold, formal, luctant recognition of their constitu-onal rights, qualified with a friendly ution, that these rights only appear ecious in speculation; that it is often ngerous to adopt in practice, what erely looks well in theory. We need t therefore be surprised to see the "corner stone" of our federal fabric in-troduced into one sentence, merely to ford the ingenious writer an opportu-nity in the next, to expose its rotten alities, and predict the downfal of any fice that folly may erect upon it:—can we marvel to see the same hand at points out and identifies the weapon hich "strikes at the very root of the ee of liberty," the next moment em-ployed in the most fatal use of that dan-gerous weapon.

A CITIZEN.

CHARLESTON, S. C. Jan. 22.

FARTHER OF CARTHAGANA.

Captain Eaton, of the brig Rover arri-ed here on Saturday, in 20 days from quina, St. Domingo, confirms the news the capture of Carthagena, the parti-culars of which were derived from the atriot general Bolivar, lately command-at Carthagena, who escaped from that lace to Jamaica, a short time previous its surrender, and who had passed through Aquina, Dercas, on his way from maica, via Aux Cayes, for Port au Prince. He was in high spirits and was accompanied by his whole suite. He ex-pressed a determination to adhere to the patriot cause, and to continue hostilities against the royalists. General Bolivar stated that when the Spanish squadron entered the harbour of Carthagena, the land forces (royalists) entered the city in the rear, and put every soul to the sword. 12,000 women and children are stated to have fallen victims to their barbarity.

When it was ascertained that general Bolivar fled to Jamaica, the royalists de-spatched a small vessel to that island to intercept him, offering a reward of fifty thousand dollars to any one who would destroy him: a Spaniard who undertook the job, had well nigh succeeded, having stabbed by mistake another person who was asleep in the general's bed. The Spaniard was afterwards recognized by the general, taken, and delivered up to the British government.

A great number of Carthagenian privateers were out at the time of the surrender, and they are now sculking in all quarters for shelter. Six or eight were on the south side of Hispaniola a few days before the Rover sailed.

Captain Eaton also confirms the account received via Baltimore, of Christophe having been deserted by a body of his soldiers. The following are the particulars as furnished by captain E.

Chirstophe landed near Jeremie, on the 17th of December, two hundred soldiers, each having three muskets, with powder, ball, &c. and two thousand Spanish dollars, to join old Gomar in the woods, who had been for five years living in the mountains to annoy Petion's party. On the 18th the two hundred soldiers killed their commander, and entered Jeremie, surrendered themselves, with their equipage and cash, to the commandant of that place, who set them at liberty. This is the second instance of that barbarian's soldiers deceiving him in the same way.

The beautiful corvette ship general Gates, formerly of New York, taken during the war and sent into England, had arrived at Hayti, and been purchased by Petion, together with most of the muskets which were brought from Carthagena in her.

An image of the Virgin Mary, valued at 80 or 90,000 dollars, had been brought to St. Domingo form Carthagena, in a schoner belonging to New York It was taken as security for payment of a cargo of provisions carried into Carthagena by that vessel.

Messrs. Bosler & Co.

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT and FAMILY MEDICINE STORE, New-York,

A FRESH SUPPLY OF THE FOLLOWING

GENUINE MEDICINES.

Dr HAMILTON'S

Grand Restorative.

Prepared (only) by H. LEE, No. 56, Maiden Lane, New-York.

The proprietor of HAMILTON'S RESTORATIVE DROPS confidently recommends it as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent Cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of Spirits	Melancholy
Loss of Appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of Blood	Pains in the Limbs
Hysterical Affections	Relaxations, &c
Inward Weaknesses

This Medicine is perfectly different in its qualities and operation from those hot and irritating drugs so frequently proposed for similar purposes, which only recommend themselves by the dangerous rapidity of their effects—and which, acting as a temporary, but violent stimulus on the nervous system, infallibly produces greater evils than those which they are intended to remove.

The principal operation of this medicine is in the stomach, restoring the digestive power, and sending from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without stimulating, too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels and general habits, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone, and restores that nutrition which immoderate evacuations have destroyed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame into languor and debility.

The restorative is absolutely above all commendation in removing those weaknesses and infirmities with which many females are afflicted, the consequences of difficult and painful labours, or of injudicious treatment therein.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obstinacy of disease have brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair.

The Grand Restorative is prepared in Pills, as well as in fluid form, which assists considerably in producing a gradual and lasting effect

HAMILTON'S

Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions of foulness in the stomach and bowels.

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills,

Celebrated for the mildness of their operation, &c. for being the best known remedy for cleansing the stomach and bowels-

HAMILTON'S

ESSENCE & EXTRACT OF MUST-ARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for Rheumatisms, Gout, Palsy, Sprains and Bruises, White Swellings, old Strains and Relaxations, Numbness and Weaknesses of the Neck, Pains of the Side, Headache, Swelled Faces, Frozen Limbs, and every similar complaint. It prevents Chilblains or Chopped Hands, and the ill effects of getting wet or damp in the feet.

THE GENUINE PERSIAN LOTION,

So celebrated among the fashionable thro'-out Europe, in preventing and removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

THE RESTORATIVE POWDER,

For the Teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which, suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Celebrated for the cure of colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, and approaching consumptions, and a certain remedy for the whooping cough.

HAHN'S GENUINE EYE WATER.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or accident.

TOOTH ACHE DROPS.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

ITCH CURED.

LEE'S OINTMENT FOR THE ITCH.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

LEE'S

INFALLIBLE

AGUE & FEVER DROPS.

For the cure of Agues, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers.

HAHN'S

True & Genuine German Corn Plaister.

NOTE. The above GENUINE MEDICINES are prepred (only) by H. LEE, (widow of Richard Lee, deceased) No. 56, Maiden Lane, N. York, and

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise np in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocaton. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption The advise of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

GEORGE BENNER, Jr.
No. 11, Budd Street, Philadelphia.

The public are respectfully informed, that the above MEDICINE is prepared (only) by the SOLE PROPRIETOR, H. LEE, No. 56, Maiden Lane, New-York, and sold, wholesale and retail, by SARAH IRWIN.

Pittsburgh, February 3, 1816.

DOCTOR CHISHOLM'S
Anti-Bilious Pills,

Of a quality superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a GENERAL MEDICINE, in this Country.

NOW prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India Islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates.

This extraordinary Medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constituton.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by
J. P. & J. W. SKELTON,
at their Wholesale and Retail Apothecary and Drug Store.

FOR SALE,
A valuable Tract of Land,

CONTAINING 237 acres, situate in Plumb township, Allegheny county, one mile north of Cavet's mill, the property of John M'Grew, of Adams county. There are several cabins on the premises, about 80 acres cleared, 5 or 6 sugar camps, and upwards of 80 acres of first rate bottom. This farm is not more than 15 miles from Pittsburgh. An indisputable title will be given, and payments made easy. For particulars apply to THOMAS BRACKEN, Pittsburgh, or to SIMON M'GREW, North Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania.
